

HI-LINK COMPUTER PARTNERS WITH GLOBAL KNOWLEDGE TO OFFER END-TO-END COMPUTER CONSULTING SOLUTIONS

Stamford, CT, July 13, 2005 – Hi-Link Computer Corporation, an information technology (IT) solutions provider, today announced a partnership with Global Knowledge, the largest privately held provider of training and enterprise learning services for IT and management professionals. This partnership enables Hi-Link to offer their customers expert training for Cisco, Microsoft and overall information technology solutions.

“We specialize in providing Cisco security and Voice over IP solutions to our customers,” said Jim Gartner, Business Development Manager at Hi-Link. “In order to offer an end-to-end solution, we needed a learning partner that could provide a wide range of targeted courses and ample learning methods.”

Global Knowledge is a recognized leader in providing expert, hands-on IT, project management and professional skills training. Through the partnership with Global Knowledge, Hi-Link can now offer training to its customers that features core and custom content delivered in the classroom, at private facilities, or over the Internet. Hi-Link’s customers will take courses in Global Knowledge’s recently updated New York City training center.
